General comments:

This applicant is made up of a couple of separate parties on testnet. Jay has a long history of being helpful and a competent operator on testnet. Alex and David required some help getting their nodes setup but have generally always been quick to update their nodes and no downtime has been observed outside the network wide issues. For Alex and David they have only run 1 node each neither in the authority set and hence haven't been doing brain transfer/swap during upgrades.
